

ABOUT FEET.

There are old feet and young feet
The little feet and great,
Pretty feet and homely feet,
And feet that do not mate.

There are tender feet and tough feet,
And narrow feet and wide,
Chubby feet and bony feet,
And feet you try to hide.

It's quite a feat to make glad feet
With shoes both cheap and true,
As that's the very thing you want
Here's what we'll do for you:

Bring all your feet to our store,
We'll fit them with our shoes,
So you'll possess ten happy toes
That never have the blues.

MATERIALS.

Flat Trimmings—Staves and Caps—A Handsome Hat Dress.

Velvet will be much employed this winter for costumes, outer wraps and trimmings. Both plain and fancy velvets are seen, plaid, ribbed, dotted, striped, printed and threaded with lines of metal. Plain and ribbed cloths are likewise fashionably and heavily shaggy wools, chevrons and moire poplins are also worn in abundance. Red, green, dark blue, suede and champagne are among the favorite colors, and many plaids, of all styles and colors, are seen.

Moire velvet is to be particularly noted among trimming materials. It comes in charming colors, and is used for collars, cuffs and revers of blouses and jackets.

Galloon, mohair braid and round or flat cords are among the correct trimmings for winter gowns, jackets and wraps.

Among silk materials changeable moire, satin duchesse, faille, silk poplin and a new goods called muscovite satin enjoy distinguished consideration. This last named material will be much employed for blouses, which have not yet abandoned the field by any means, and it is also used for trimming gowns of velvet or faille.

Galloons of gold, steel and silver and cords and braids of mingled colors are favored for embellishing elegant jackets. They form trellis, squares, lozenges or simulate a bolero, belt or yoke, or serve to cover the seams. Incrustations of light satin, embroidered, are also very pretty.

Since the diminution of sleeves many less capes are seen, but nevertheless the style of wrap is by no means abandoned. The illustration given today shows a princess ball costume. It is of black satin the décolletage being square and cut to fall off the shoulders. The bodice consists of a ruffle of white lace, embroidered with gold, headed by a narrow band of black feather trimming. The straps over the shoulders are of steel, gold and pearl. The sleeves consist of small puffs of satin.
